FROM FR. DANIEL

Dear friends in Christ,

The Word of God is very clear today about our mission. It is our mission, not just that of priests and religious. We all have been inserted in a chain of tradition, a word that means passing on what we have received. We all have received the good news from someone else, and someone else is waiting for us to share the good news. That's how God planned things.

We cannot ignore our part in this mission. What St. Paul says today is what we all must do: I handed on to you as of first importance what I also received. Knowing Christ is not some accessory bonus that makes life somewhat better for those who don't know Him, but is it really is a matter of first importance: it is about (eternal) life or death.

So, as we hear today the Lord asking, Whom shall I send?, even though, like Paul we are not fit to be called an apostle, may we commit to find ways of sharing the love of God to those far from Him. And if we are hesitant, let's listen to Jesus himself:

Do not be afraid; from now on you will be catching men.

With my prayers,
Fr. Daniel
