FROM FR. DANIEL

Dear friends in Christ,

Our church still shines with the beauty of Christmas, as we continue the joyful solemnities of the octave and observe today the feast of the Holy Family. What a blessing that the Church is wise enough to make sure our celebrations come down to earth; that we contemplate not only the light that comes from above, but the earthly realities of family life become a path to become like God.

The early Church liked to talk about "divinization." We are meant to become like God. Because of the incarnation, this is a realistic path: God became man so that we can all become god. And for this, we don't only need to come to church and embark on epic pastoral projects. Along with that, we must love at home.

Charity does not begin at home, because it comes from God. But charity is first lived at home. And for this, we have the sweet and humble example of Jesus, Mary, and Joseph. Finally, and thanks be to God, we receive not only a wonderful example, but their intercession and God's grace. Through the joys and challenges of family life we can become like Christ and walk on the path of divinization, May we renew our gratitude for our families, and renew our desire to follow the example of the Holy Family of Nazareth.

In the joy of Christmas,
Fr. Daniel
