ARCHDIOCESE OF DENVER: Advent Talk by: Scott Elmer Monday December 9th at 6:30pm at Bonfils Hall in the St. John Paul II Center Advent is commonly referred to as the season of hope. It is a time when Catholics are invited to remember God’s promise of salvation and are called to sanctify themselves for the coming of our King and His Kingdom. We cannot hope in what we do not remember, we cannot remember what we do not know and we cannot know what has not been proclaimed. Come join us for an evening of proclaiming and claiming God’s great and generous promises of salvation and victory as we prepare for the Lord’s coming again at Christmas.

PASTOR’S CORNER

Dear Friends in Christ,

As we continue to walk the Advent journey we encounter today one of the main characters of this season, John the Baptist. His coming, which was announced in the Old Testament, is a reality for us as well through the liturgy. For we do not only remember what John did as if it was only important to those who were there preparing for the coming of Jesus, but we listen again to his voice that cries out in the desert of the world and of our hearts, both in need of redemption.

St. John the Baptist reminds us that conversion and repentance are necessary for us, especially during Advent, as a time to prepare our hearts for the coming of Christ.

May we hear his voice with attention and humility, so that what resounds again in our church through the liturgical celebrations of these days, may be a message that we receive, as it is, as something said to us today.

With my prayers for a fruitful Advent,
Fr. Daniel
