PASTOR'S CORNER

Dear brothers and sisters,

The Gospel takes us today not only to the first call of the first disciples, but also to our own first call. Just as with Peter and James and John and Andrew, there was an encounter, a moment in which we heard his voice for the first time, or in which what we had heard so many times finally resonated for us personally.

As we see Jesus walking, seeing, calling, and the disciples hearing, leaving everything, and following Him, we are invited not only to remember those first moments, but to be open anew to the voice of the Lord, to understand that He is still alive, that He still sees us, that He still calls us.

The upcoming priestly ordination of Juan Fernando is a very important moment for all of us, not only because another priest will help decisively in our ministries, but because his call and his response invite us all to be open to the specific way in which the Lord calls here and now to be his disciples. May these days of joy be also days of renewal in our discipleship.

With my prayers,
Fr. Daniel
